

las cruces

when i rolled the dice, i couldn't take it back when i met the devil, she had a heart attack when i saw uranus your insides/soul, it removed all doubt when i hit the bottom, the sun came out when the sun came out, it wouldn't go back down when the heat got scorching, the circus came to town when i paid my ticket, i was made the clown when i lost my incense, something else was found when i hit the road, i took it way down south when i paid the piper, he punched me in the mouth when my lips were split, i couldn't sing so sweet when i went for hot sauce, i could barely eat when i passed crossroads, i left 'em far behind when i took the exit, i skipped the borderline when i left town, i left all the way when the road was darkest, it was the light of day when i hit las cruces, memories came back when they were someone else's, my history went black when all was laid before me, it all seemed complete when i looked below me, nothing underneath my feet when i rolled the dice, it set me on a track when i met the devil, gave her a heart attack

when i saw uranus your insides/soul, it removed all doubt
when i hit the bottom, the sun came out